

Date:

Wednesday Challenge Form

Group Members: Team Two

Problem Statement: Complete three stages of passing a ...rod: 1)Sitting, 2)Standing, 3) skipping?

Approach: When we got outside, we immediately began to “struggle” with team cohesion. We couldn’t get the tosses’ right, and just as Dr. Neat intended, we began to face lots of frustration. It was only at the end of the period, we began to get the jist of the game, and we got better as we failed more.

I won’t get to intimate into the entire game, but as we got better at tossing the rod, we created little contingencies’ when it came to certain situations. Even though it was a little rough at first.... we we’re able to win.... And it was GLORIUS.

Solution: We won the challenge because we trusted each other enough to push through the exercise. We communicated ideas, and we made sure (most of the time) to bring up our teammates

Lessons Learned: Trust in others... or they won’t trust you .